

I'm unsure if this review is supposed to check the content of the website or just the general layout and stuff, but here are some things I found while taking a look through the different pages and logins for different roles:

DSA Website: devi.igiapp.com/dependablestaffing/login

Error message when putting in wrong credentials is misspelled, and the grammar is wrong. "Cradential you Provide Is Wrong" has misspellings, capitalization is wrong, and grammar is wrong. It should be something like: "The credentials you provided are invalid" or some other phrase. Doesn't have to capitalize every word in the error message either.

"Welcome Back !" doesn't need a space between Back and !.

If You are Searching for Job, Keep it Employee

The Registration page has everyone register as an employee or employer. There should be a registration for an applicant or some other role that would not be grouped into the employee/employer category.

Also, the message “Register as a” is incorrect. It should be “Register as an” because every choice it currently has (Employee and Employer start with a vowel. If we add “Applicant” as a role it will also start with a vowel).

Below the registration field, the phrase “If You are Searching for Job, Keep it Employee” is also full of grammar and capitalization errors. This should be changed before going live.

The terms and conditions link at the bottom of registering doesn’t open anything and is also grammatically wrong. “I agree your terms and conditions” needs to be “I accept your terms and conditions” or “I agree with your terms and conditions”.

I would suggest putting the Company field closer to the top of the form. It looks like the company name is an afterthought with it being at the bottom of the form.

The employee tab should have another field for “Last login date” and the “Status” field is just an off/on switch with no description of what it means. I assume it is supposed to tell you whether the account is active or inactive, but it should be clearer.

Same thing for the employer tab.

The members tab has more information, such as facebook/twitter/github/dribble links – but this looks like it is something that would be useful to have for every employee, not just people flagged as members that must be added by internal staff only. If these fields are going to be used, they should be able to be inputted while registering.

The grammar on the notifications tab is wrong, also the red notification icon should be above the bell, not way off to the side.

The notifications also appear on mouseover and block the sign out and chat button while they are up. Perhaps making it appear when clicking on notifications would be better or moving the flyout to under the Sign Out button.

Hi.. John Cena Start Your chat

The Chat page looks weird. The search users field needs to be cleaner, needs to be able to search all employees, not just recent messages. The right side of the page should be clearer for where the chat appears. Can't scroll messages either it appears.

Also, the recent chats have no mouse feedback (icon changes), can't click profiles or pictures.

The employee page must have an email verification before proceeding. Can't check the rest of what that role has access to at this time.
